

Costing Procedures, Systems & Applications.

Due to the high cut throat competition, unfavorable business conditions, global competition and scarcity of Resources, the Management has the responsibility of planning controlling the resources of their business.

To do this they need much more detailed information than that the Financial Accounting System provides.

This need is fulfilled by the Cost Accounting System. Cost Accounting is a Technique or Method for determining the cost of a Project, process or product in a scientific way. Due to Financial & other constraints Pakistani companies are ignoring this important Area in order to facilitate them in this very important area which will assist them in their survival, PHMA in collaboration with SMEDA is announcing a One Day Workshop on Costing Procedures, Systems & Applications.

This will not only provide them an opportunity to understand the very important area of Accounting but also give them an opportunity to discuss their specific problems and issues with Professionally Expert Facilitator.
